Friday, October 24. 1707.

From the Vienna Gazette, dated Oct. 8.
Vienna, October 8.

SOME Days ago Count Tierheim arriv'd here being sent by the Elector of Hanover from the Imperial Army on the Upper Rhine, upon certain Affairs. The Bishop of Posen is likewise arriv'd here from Rome in his Way to Poland; but finds himself indispos'd: however, 'tis thought he will pursue his Journey in a few Days. By Letters of the 29th of September from the Imperial Army under General Staremberg we have Advice, that he continu'd still with his Troops on this side the River Waag, being then Encamp'd not far from Nieustettel, 4 Leagues below Trentchin. Those Letters add, that when our Troops came into that Camp, the Rebels, to the Number of 2000, appear'd on the other side of that River, and made many Bravadoes: Upon which our Rascians, under the Command of Collonel Secula, forthwith pass'd over that River, being supported by two Imperial Squadrons Commanded by Collonel Viard: But the Rebels seeing how daringly our Troops came over, fled with great Precipitation, according to their wonted Cowardice, into the Neighbouring Woods: our Rascians pursuing them, cut many of them to pieces and took 10 Prisoners. Nay, so great was the Consternation of those Rebels, that many of them threw themselves from their Horses, that they might the better hide themselves among the Bushes and Thickets, and left their Horses a Prey to our Troops. General Staremberg was fortifying Nieustettel, where there was in Garrison one Battalion of Dewend, and one of Haffingen, to hinder the Enemy from passing the Waag: Besides, a Body of some Regiments of Horse is to remain in those Parts, to make Head against the Rebels, in case they should endeavour to pass that River. Such of them nevertheless, as have Lands and Houses on this side of it, keep in small Parties in the Woods and Mountains, wandering from Place to Place to ravage the Country, the other Inhabitants of which can only blame themselves that those Rovers cannot be taken, seeing they correspond with them, and assist them in all they can. Mean while Ozkai threatens to invade the Hereditary Countries, and is disposing all things to make an Irruption into Moravia. We have Advice from Arat on the Frontiers of Transylvania, that Collonel Tokeli being Order'd by General Rabutin to send a Party into the District of Halmag, to give Notice to Major-General Tige, who is in Transylvania, of his Approach, that he might hang on the Rear of the Rebls who might attempt to hinder his Passage, that Collonel H-aded his Party in Person, and engaging a Numerous Party of the Rebels, had the good Fortune to defeat them, to take several Prisoners, and many Horses and Cattle; which put him in a Condition to pursue his March in safety to Transylvania, to the above mention'd Major General Tige, who in an Incursion which he lately made, kill'd above 40 of the Rebels. We have likewise Advice, that General Rabutin safely pursu'd his March by the way of Vilagofvar and Grna, towards the Mountains of Transylvania and Deva; and that he hop'd to enter into that Principality the beginning of this Month. They write from Buda of the 24th of last Month that the Rebels, having several times already taken Prisoners or kill'd some of the Inhabitants of that Town in the Island of Raskeve, Baron Pfeffershoven gave Orders to the Saicks of Pest, to patroll not only round the said Island, but to fall lower down towards Fedwar, to get Intelligence if the Rebels had not some new Passage over the Danube in those Parts:

And Advice came afterwards to Buda, from the Village of Focku near Colocza, that the foresaid Saicks had found hidden among Reeds, a great Boat or Barge belonging to Borthiani; in which the Rebels might bring over at once to this side of the Danube 10 Hungarian Waggon: But that not being able to bring that Bridge up the River, because of the Rapidity of the Stream, they had taken it to pieces, and intirely destroy'd it. Baron Pfeffershoven had likewise sent out a Party towards Stohl-Weissembourg, to see whether the Report were true, that the Rebels were drawing together in a great Body in those Parts.

From the Leien Gazette, dated October 21.
Vienna, Oct. 8. The Baron off Nefteloth Chamberlain of the Elector Palatin is arriv'd here with the Duke of Wolfembuttel's Consent to the Marriage of the Princess his Daughter with the King of Spain Charles III. and 'tis now said the Empress-Dowager will solemnly declare that Marriage the 25th of this Month. 'Tis believ'd that Cardinal Lemberg, who is come hither on pretence of going to drink the Waters of Carlsbad in Bohemia, is already appointed to be first Minister of State in the room of the Prince of Salm; and that Count Trautson will be made Steward of the Household to the Emperor. 'Tis said too that Count Czernin, Burgrave of Bohemia, will be oblig'd to resign that Dignity, and that in lieu of it he is offer'd the Title of Prince of the Empire: in which Case that Burgraviate will be given to Count Martinitz, who is recall'd from the Viceroy-ship of Naples. Count Wratislau is appointed to go to Frankfort to confer with the Duke of Marlborough and M. Geldermalsen: 'tis said he is to press them to use their Endeavours to prevail with the Queen of Great Britain and the States-General of the United Provinces to send to the Upper-Rhine the Troops of Hanover that are in their Service; And that he is also to use his Endeavours to perswade the Elector of Hanover to pass the Winter in the Empire near the Army. Count Schargoff, Mr. Javes and Sweinz, Count Slengenbergh, and Baron Gnurschiber are appointed by the Emperor to go into Slesia, and see the Agreement lately concluded between his Imperial Majesty and the King of Sweden, put in Execution.

From the Vienna Gazette, dated Octob. 12.
Vienna, Octob. 12. We have Letters which say, that Count Rabutin is actually arriv'd at Hermanstad in Transylvania: of which we expect the Confirmation. We likewise hear, that a Bark that was going from hence down the Danube to Buda with some Inhabitants of that City, who had with them a good Quantity of Goods and Provisions, which they had bought here, had the Misfortune, at a certain Village between Comorra and Gran, to fall into the Hands of the Rebels; who approaching unseen by a Valley, first took Prisoners the said Inhabitants, who were ashore, in that Village, to buy something there. They write from Gran that the Rebels had given a fresh Instance of their Perfidy: seeing Borthiani had some time ago given his Word to the Inhabitants of Gran, that upon Condition no damage was done to his House in that City, and that they would cultivate his Vineyards near it, none of them should be disturb'd by the Rebels in the Culture of their own Vineyards, nor in getting in their Vintages: but notwithstanding this Promise, the Rebels have not only taken away about 80 Horses from the Rascians out of those Vineyards, but demanded likewise 1000 Dollars, to suffer them to make their Vintage quietly. They write from Buda of the 27th of last Month,

Month, that there was more appearance than ever, that the Rebels would hinder the Vintage thereabouts; they having already possessed themselves of the neighbouring Mountains, posted themselves in several Places, and not only secur'd the Eminences near Buda-Gess, Old Buda, and Mount Paul, but likewise the Promontory of Scepel. However, tho' the Inhabitants of Buda had not a strength sufficient to oppose the Rebels in all Places, yet seeing they could not come to an Agreement with them concerning the Contributions for their Vintages, by reason of their excessive Demands, they were resolv'd, their Wines being their chief support, to get in their Vintage by Force: So that in all likelihood there will be sharp Actions between them.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Octob. 25.

Vienna, Octob. 12. Count Almelo, Envoy Extraordinary from the States General, being recover'd of his Indisposition, is gone to the Upper-Rhine, having first had a private Audience of his Imperial Majesty. M. Christopher de Forstern, Councillor and Purveyor General of the Emperor, is likewise gone thither. The Silesian Deputies who are still here, have acquainted the Imperial Court that on an exact Computation, the Quartering of the 4 first Swedish Regiments, the Passing of the Swedish Army thro' Silesia, the Forrage, and the Horses they took away, amount to 1500000 Guilders; and solicit this Court to indemnify the Inhabitants for that Expence. Our last Advices from Arach and Great Waradin confirm that General Rabutin is safely enter'd into Transylvania with his Army; and those Letters add, that on his Approach the Malecontents, who were in that Principality, retir'd into the Upper Hungary.

London, October 24.

Yesterday the Parliament of Great Britain met at Westminster. Her Majesty came to the House of Lords and the Commons attending, her Pleasure was signify'd to them that they should choose themselves a Speaker: Accordingly returning to their House, they unanimously chose J. Smith Esquire, whom they are to present to her Majesty on Thursday next.

Several Hundreds of Citizens having lately met to consider how they may be best represented in Parliament, in the Room of Sir Robert Clayton deceas'd, by a Person well affected to Her Majesty's Person and Government, and known to the Laws and Customs of the City; did unanimously agree upon the Right Honourable Sir William Withers Knight Lord Mayor E. & C. (who formerly serv'd this City in the said Station) they being well assur'd that he can attend the said Service, (notwithstanding his publick Station) without any prejudice or delay of Justice, there being 22 Aldermen and Mr. Recorder, Justices of the Peace for this City besides his Lordship.

Whereas all the Aldermen of London (that are Justices of the Peace) are by the Government thought necessary to do the Justice of the City, and 'tis well known that at least half of them are generally out of Town. And the Lord Mayor by his Duty being bound to reside in London, and not to lye out of it without special Leave from the Government, he supplies by his constant Attendance the Defects of his Brethren, and he being the chief Magistrate, most Business is brought before him; therefore it is thought by many hundred considerable Citizens that Sir John Buckworth Baronet, Citizen and Fishmonger of London, a Gentleman of unquestionable Loyalty and Ability, is the most proper Person to be Elect'd to serve this City in Parliament in the Room of Sir Robert Clayton deceas'd.
